

National Consumer Agency

Market Research Findings: Consumer Switching Behaviour

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

putting consumers first

August 2014
Research Conducted by

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Key Findings

putting consumers first

Key Findings - 1

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

- When describing their consumer behaviour, overall 25% of consumers said they 'change companies often and avail of better deals', a further 38% said that while they generally stick with the same companies they do 'look around' for other providers. 36% of consumers said they 'tend to stick with the same company for products and services'.
- Overall the proportion who have switched at least one product or service provider in the past 12 months is 43%.
- Switching provider is highest for car insurance (25%), electricity (17%) and gas (17%), followed by gym membership (15%) and main grocery shop (14%).

putting consumers first

Key Findings - 2

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

- 76% described the process of switching provider as 'easy'. Consumers rated gas (92%) and electricity (89%) supply services as the easiest to switch.
- Majority of switchers saved money – with average monthly savings resulting from switching being;
  - mobile phone provider - €24.
  - electricity provider - €21.
  - car insurance provider and gas provider both - €15
- When asked about their behaviour in a number of key sectors, significant numbers of consumers said that they have not checked recently to see if there is a better package/deal available to them.

putting consumers first

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Consumer Switching Behaviour

putting consumers first

Consumer Behaviour

Base: All Adults – 999

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

A slight increase in consumers saying that they tend to stick to the same companies, but the majority still say they shop for the best price.

Q. Which of the following statements most closely describes your behaviour as a consumer?

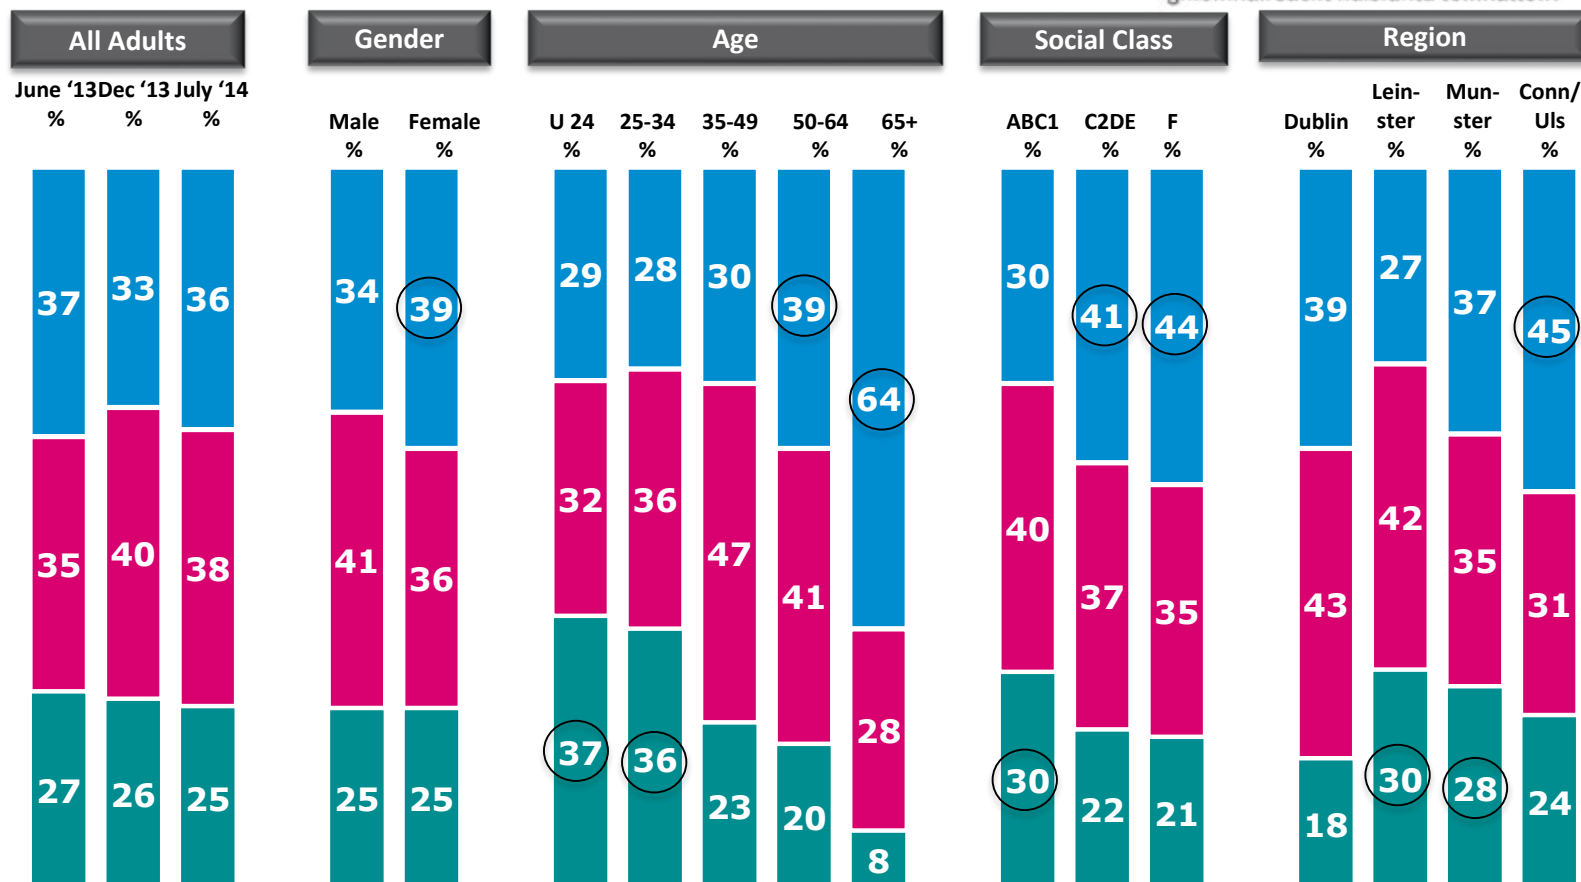

putting consumers first

Consumer Behaviour - Demographics

Base: All Adults – 999

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Older adults and those from C2DE socio economic group and farming backgrounds continue to be the more inclined to stick to same companies

Q. Which of the following statements most closely describes your behaviour as a consumer?

putting consumers first

Trends in Switching Behaviour

Base: All who hold each product

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Switched in past year %

■ Jun-12    ■ Nov-12    ■ Jun-13
■ Dec-13    ■ Jul-14

Incidence of switching is highest in relation to car insurance, electricity and gas provider. Overall 43% have switched at least one product or service within the last 12 months (2% less than previous wave)

putting consumers first

Majority of Switchers Feel they have Saved Money

Base: All who switched products or services

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

%

( )=base size

Across the majority of sectors between 80% and 90% believe that they have saved money by switching to a different provider, with exception being switching current accounts at 51%.

putting consumers first

Reported Monthly Savings from Switching

Base: All switchers in each category

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

| Saved money when switched               | Average monthly savings€ |
|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Car insurance provider (158)            | 15.33                        |
| Electricity supply service (127)        | 21.06                        |
| Mobile telephone provider (81)          | 24.35                        |
| Broadband internet access (71)          | 12.96                        |
| Home insurance provider (67)            | 12.99                        |
| Gas supply service (51)                 | 15.08                        |
| Fixed/ Landline telephone provider (48) | 14.93                        |
| Waste / Bin service provider (42)       | 8.66                         |
| TV service provider e.g. Sky, UPC (37)  | 20.23                        |
| Health insurance provider (31)          | 34.51                        |

Monthly savings made by switching mobile telephone provider on average were found to be €24. On average consumers saved €21 when switching electricity provider and €15 when switching car insurance or gas provider.

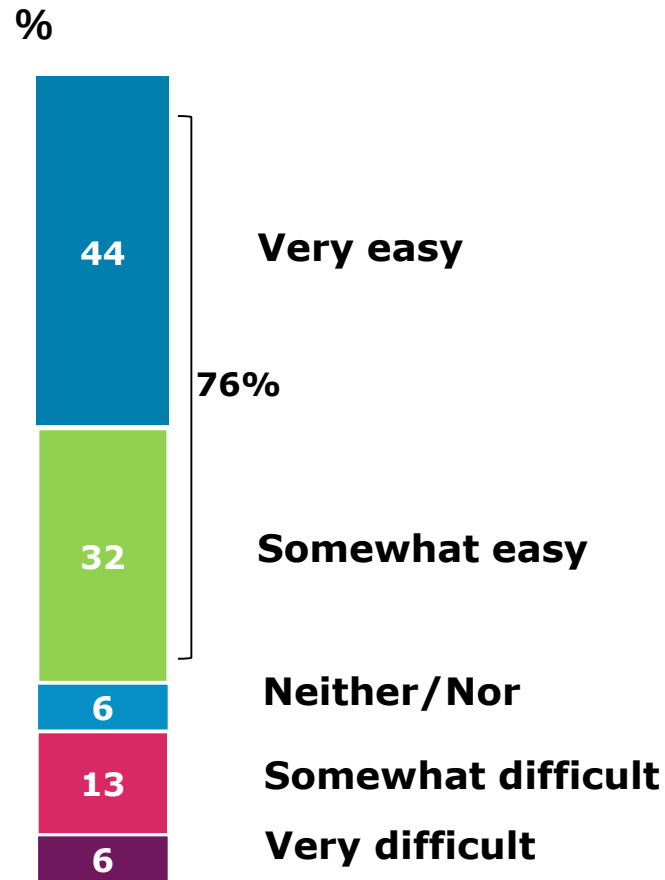

putting consumers first

Ease of Switching

Base: All who have switched providers in the past 12 months

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

76% describe the process of switching provider as easy.

Q.

Thinking about the switching process, how would you describe it?

putting consumers first

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Ease of Switching - Demographics

Base: All who have switched providers in the past 12 months

Gender

Age

Social Class

Little variation in the assessment of ease or difficulty of switching by demographics, older consumers and those living in Dublin & Conn/Ulster find switching slightly more difficult.

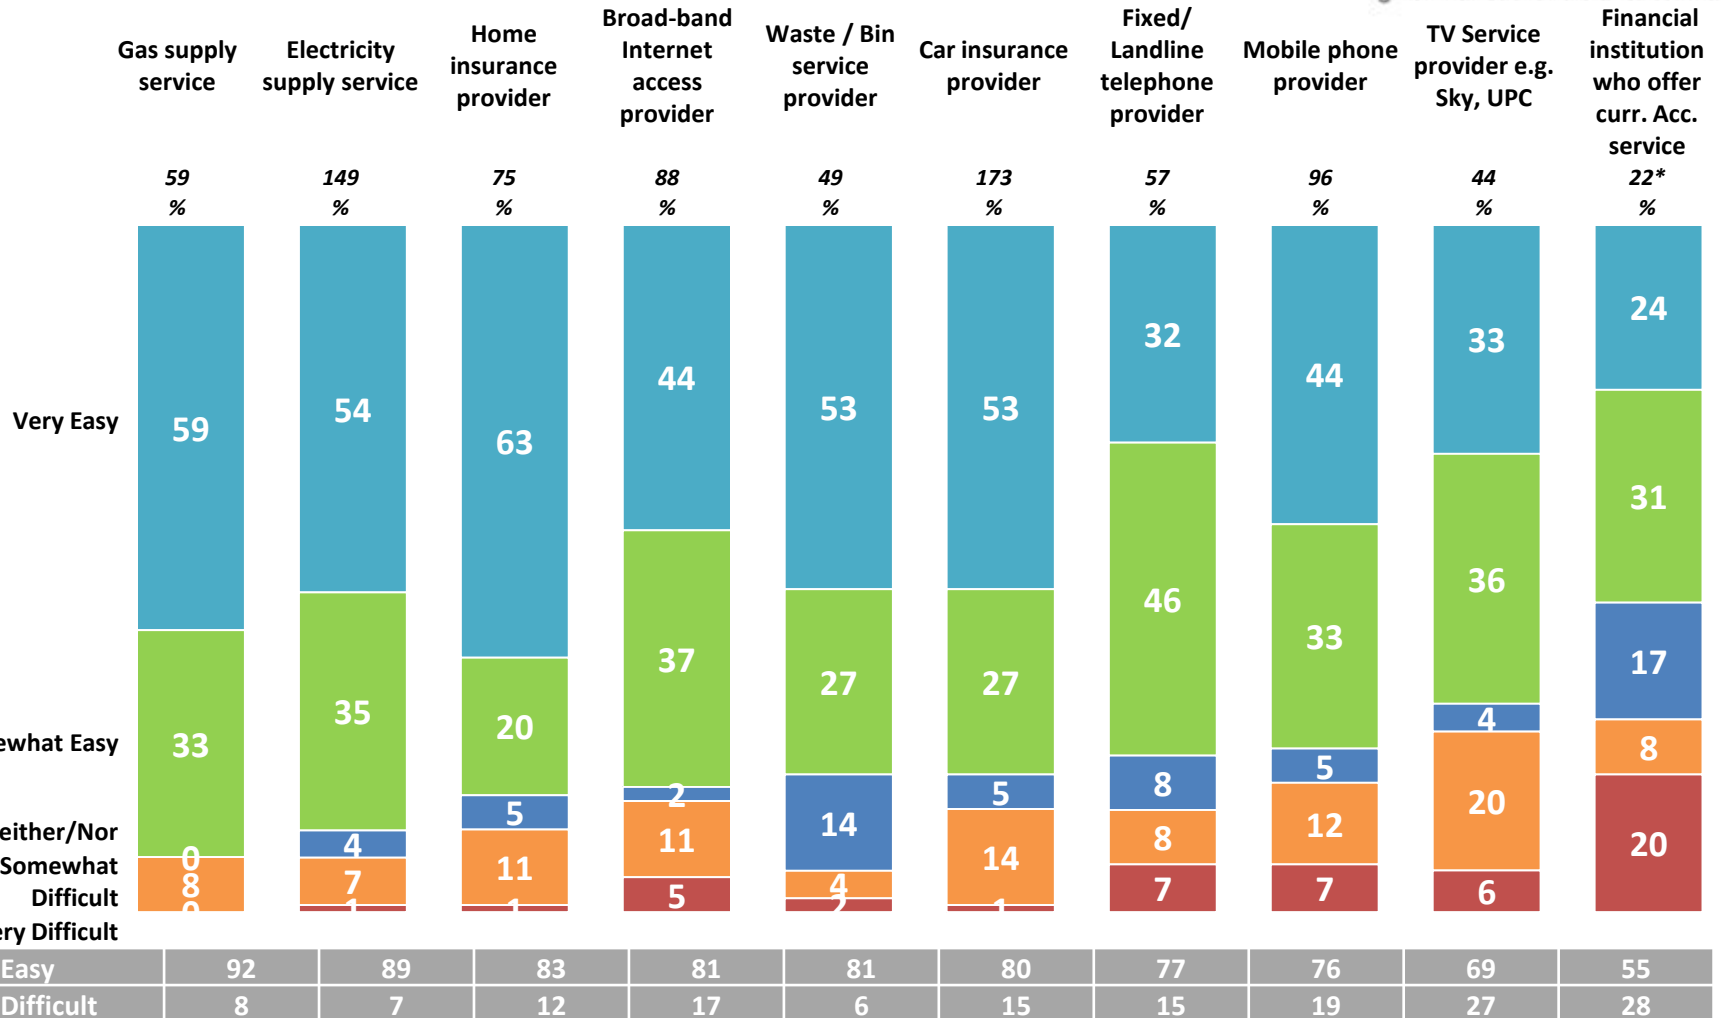

putting consumers first

Ease of Switching across Sectors

Base: All who have switched providers in the past 12 months

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

*Caution small base

putting consumers first

Occurrence of Checking for Better Deals/Packages Available

Base: All who hold products

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Gas, electricity & mortgage protection are the only sectors seeing an increase in checking for better offers in the past 12 months

putting consumers first

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

Research Background and Methodology

putting consumers first

Research, Background and Methodology

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

- The NCA has undertaken frequent national surveys of public attitudes and behaviour since 2007. Each of these have been similarly structured to represent the national adult population in Ireland.
- This is the third wave of tracking research to be conducted by Behaviour & Attitudes, but the thirteenth in the NCA's tracking series.
- In order to ensure that the findings are comparable with previous studies, the same methodology was utilised.
  - 999 interviews were conducted using CAPI machines (small handheld personal computers on which the survey interview is 'hosted'.)
  - Interviewing was undertaken face-to-face, in home, at 63 randomly selected sampling locations.
  - Quota controls used in relation to gender, age and social class, with sampling points chosen in proportion to the regional distribution of population. Quotas were based on the latest census of population and industry agreed estimates in relation to social class.
- Interviewing was conducted between 30th June and 13th July 2014.

putting consumers first

Incidence of Currently Holding Products or Services

Base: All Adults – 999

national consumer agency
gníomhaireacht náisiúnta tomhaltóirí

putting consumers first