

PRODUCT RECALLS

Aldi recalls certain Adventuridge Hiking Baby Carrier

📅 NOVEMBER 3, 2021

Aldi Stores (Ireland) Limited is carrying out a voluntary recall of the Adventuridge Hiking Baby Carrier.

A safety issue has been identified whereby a plastic washer that secures the child seat to the adult shoulder and waist straps may fail, and as a result the child is less secure and may fall. There have been no reports of injuries to date.

There are approximately 1070 units sold in Ireland.

What to do:

If you believe you have purchased one of these products then you should stop using it immediately, and return to your local Aldi store for a full refund.

Further information can be found at their website here.