

PRODUCT RECALLS

Corry's Ironmongery Limited t/a Corry's recalls Rugged Trailing Electrical Sockets (1/2)

📅 DECEMBER 18, 2025

Corry's Ironmongery Limited t/a Corry's is carrying out a recall of Rugged Trailing Electrical Sockets.

The product presents a risk of fire and burns. A manufacturing fault may cause the product to overheat during use. In a small number of cases, the cable may melt under load, creating a risk of fire and burns.

The brand is Rugged. The affected products have a moulded plug top and are those purchased between 01 September 2025 and 28 November 2025.

If your Trailing Socket was purchased within this time frame and has the following part number, then it is affected:

272119

272121

272122

272123

272124

272125

272126

272127

272128

272130

If you purchased a trailing socket before 01 September 2025, or after 28 November 2025, it is not affected by this recall.

There are approximately 1850 affected products in the Republic of Ireland.

The list of retailers can be found here.

What to do:

If you purchased one of these products, please stop use immediately and unplug the trailing socket safely.

If you purchased one of these products, please return it to your point of purchase for a refund or replacement, no proof of purchase is required.

For further information or if you have any questions or queries on this recall, you can contact Corry's by phone on 01-4404860 or by email sales@corrys.ie