

PRODUCT RECALLS

Halfords recall – Halfords Weld through Primer (Item Code 370426)

📅 SEPTEMBER 20, 2017

Halfords have identified a potential safety concern with their Halfords Weld through Primer (Item Code 370426).

A small number of units from a batch manufactured in January 2016 have been found to be contaminated during the filling process and have since become over-pressurised. There is a risk that these units have the potential to rupture which may cause an injury.

There has been one reported incident involving this product. Only this specific product is affected. No other aerosol paint products are affected. Products purchased before January 2016 are not affected.

Halfords Weld through Primer (Item Code
370426)

What to do

If you have purchased one of these products, Halfords advice is do not move it or return it to Halfords. For more information consumers are to contact James Briggs Limited by telephone on, +44 (0) 161 393 3100 or by email recall@jamesbriggs.co.uk. Alternatively, consumers may speak to a Halfords customer sales representative at any of their retail outlets.

If you know someone else who has purchased one of these products, please ask them to follow the advice given above.

