Marks and Spencer Recall Twist and Turn Rattle

📅 SEPTEMBER 17, 2015

Marks and Spencer are carrying out a recall in respect of the Twist and Turn Rattle which is a toy suitable for babies from age three months upwards. Marks and Spencer have identified a choking hazard whereby the plastic connecting sections of the rattle can break apart thus releasing the small balls inside. The item has been on sale since 29 November 2014 and the product code on the packaging is T79/0284/5970. 36 units were sold in Ireland and no incidents have been reported.

What to do:

If you have purchased one of these rattles please take it from your child immediately. You should return the product to any Marks and Spencer outlet (excluding Simply Food stores) where a full refund will be provided. No receipt is necessary. Consumers with any further questions regarding this product may contact M&S Customer Services on 01 8728833.
