Opel recalls certain Crossland X passenger vehicles

 SEPTEMBER 27, 2019

A voluntary recall is being carried out by Opel Automobile Ireland Limited of certain Crossland X passenger vehicles.

There is a risk, in a very small number of vehicles equipped with the 1.2 litre naturally aspirated gasoline engine, that the lambda control may not work correctly, which may result in a NOx limit exceedance.

The vehicles in question were manufactured between 30 June 2018 and 20 March 2019.

This recall affects 198 vehicles in the Republic of Ireland.

What to do:

Opel Automobile Ireland Limited will contact owners of the affected vehicles.
