Product Safety Information Notice on various Bath screens sold by B&Q

📅 APRIL 19, 2024

A safety issue has been identified with various bath screens sold by B&Q.

The risk presented by the product is injuries. The glue bonding fails, leading to bath screen detaching from mounting rail. This leads to the glass falling on a consumer and could result in a concussion.

The brands are Cooke & Lewis and GoodHome. The models are C241-P, C240-P, E248-P and C-243P. The barcodes are 3663602769637, 3663602769620, 3663602769675 and 3663602769651 respectively. The batch number affected is 02.2023.

The products were manufactured during February 2023. The products were on sale between March 2023 and November 2023.

There are approximately 68 affected products in the Republic of Ireland.

What to do:

If you have purchased one of these models during the time period above, please stop using it immediately and contact B&Q on the below helpline number for advice with checking the batch code and getting a free replacement Bath screen where required.
