Safety concerns regarding multiple products on Wish.com

 DECEMBER 23, 2021

The CCPC is aware of safety concerns with multiple products listed on a website selling to Irish consumers called wish.com. These products are not in conformity with EU and Irish safety regulations and standards and have been purchased by consumers in Ireland. The CCPC has liaised with wish.com to remove the affected products from sale on its platform. Further details of the affected products are available on the CCPC's product recall section of its website.

The CCPC is continuing to liaise with the European Commission and our European counterparts about this matter. It is expected that further product recall notices relating to goods sold on wish.com will be listed in the coming weeks. The CCPC is advising consumers to exercise caution where they have bought goods from wish.com. Consumers can get information on product safety requirements by calling the CCPC consumer helpline on 01 402 5555 or visiting ccpc.ie.
