

PRODUCT RECALLS

Tower Housewares (RKW Ltd) Recalls Tower Air Fryers

📅 APRIL 17, 2025

RKW Ltd is carrying out a recall of Tower Air Fryers. It is important that consumers should stop using the affected products immediately, unplug them and contact Tower Housewares.

The brand is Tower. The following air fryer models are affected:

T17023 Tower 2.2Ltr Manual Air Fryer

T17061BLK Tower 4Ltr Manual Air Fryer

T17067 Tower 4Ltr Digital Air Fryer

T17087 Tower 2Ltr Compact Manual Air Fryer

The risk reported to the CCPC is of fire due to a manufacturing defect that may cause the product to overheat and ignite. There are approximately 55,000 affected products in the Republic of Ireland. Affected products were manufactured between 2020 and 2024.

Affected products have been sold by retailers including Argos, Dealz, Tesco Ireland, Lidl, Amazon and the Tower Housewares website. Other retailers may also be included. The CCPC will update this notice when more information is available.

What to do:

Consumers of the affected products should stop using it immediately and unplug it.

Consumers can check whether they own one of the affected Air Fryer models by checking the model number on the appliance rating label. To do this please see the steps on the Tower Housewares Recall webpage: Tower Air Fryer Recall

Consumers can also contact towerproduct@customersvc.co.uk.

Consumers that purchased their product via Amazon can contact Amazon to see if there are any remedies available to you. This can be done via your user account on Amazon.